Board hears about H2 program

By JEFF BROWN

SOUTH BAY - The H2 labor program is a "good program" that the sugar industry is proud of, a United States Sugar Corporation vice president told the Palm Beach County Community Relations Board at its November meeting.

Israel Baez, Jr., the Glades area representative on the often controversial board, told the other board members that he had arranged for sugar industry officials to speak with the board because it often hears the point of view of those opposed to the H2 program, but never the industry's side.

Terrill, USSC vice president for personnel, and Jeanne Olson, a spokesperson for the Florida Sugar Cane League, were introduced as the speakers. Olson had brought a copy of the league's new film, "Everglades Harvest," but the board decided viewing it would lengthen the meeting too much.

Terrill traced the development of the H2 program, which brings several thousand sugar cane cutters to the United States during the cane harvesting season, from the 1942 War & Manpower Commission act to the 1952 Immigration & Naturalization Act.

Terrill pointed out that under the 1952 act from which the H2 program takes its name, foreign workers can be brought in to the country to do a job only after it is proven that no domestic workers are available for that job.

He said the industry spends "hundreds of thousands" of dollars each year advertising for domestic workers.

Board member Morris Soodak asked Terrill why he thought the industry couldn't find the several thousand cane cutters it needed from the several million unemployed domestic work forces.

Terrill said he didn't understand why the industry couldn't attract domestic workers either. "It just doesn't add up to me either," he said, adding that part of the problem may be that cane cutting is very hard work and although the industry guarantees a base wage of $5.20 an hour, most Americans expect a higher wage.

The United States government requires the sugar industry to pay a base wage of $4.73 per hour, but the industry has voluntarily guaranteed $5.20 an hour, according to Terrill.

Board member Dan Calloway asked if the industry may not be able to attract more domestic laborers if it raised wages another dollar or more.

Terrill said the base wage of $5.20 is the lowest a cutter can make and most cutters, under the piece wage rate, actually average a much higher

Police diving unit expansion is likely

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade Police Department's dive-rescue unit is expected to expand and receive more training since Sergeant Dan Crist has received his Public Safety Scuba Instructor certification.

Crist, who completed the certification courses last weekend, will be assisting in the training course to be given to law enforcement officers

December 5 through

December 7.

Belle Glade will be hosting that course and Crist said he expects to receive his dive-rescue I trainer certificate when the course is completed.

Those who pass the course will be certified as dive-rescue I.

Crist is already certified as a dive-rescue I and a dive-rescue

II.

Dive Rescue, Inc. out of Fort Collins will be sending one instructor and eight trainers to the course.

"They have probably the most impressive record as far as training," said Crist. "They have never lost a diver in training."

He pointed out that other firms that offer the training have lost divers in training.

There are about 30 suits pending against other firms because of those types of incidents, he said.

Belle Glade will be sending at least four officers in addition to Crist to the school and others are expected from throughout the county and state. Two officers from Atlanta are also expected to take part in the course.

Dive Rescue Inc. is recognized as a consultant and trainer of divers throughout the world. It trains in a variety of environments ranging from the ice waters of the Arctic to the black water of the Glades.

Part of the courses include the upkeep and maintenance of the equipment.

Crist said he expects the new training opportunities available to the officers could result in the five-man team doubling or even tripling in size.

"The chief (Police Chief D. Bill Mathis), being a former diver himself, knows the importance of having well-trained people in diversive operations," said Crist.

The police officers entered in the course and unit are all sport divers who must be retrained to work in the dark water of the area canals which offer no visibility.

"It's a pretty eerie feeling to put an officer in the dark water with no visibility," said Crist. He said the officers will be put in pools with their masks blacked out before entering any canals.

Dive-rescue officers must be recertified every year and trainers must be recertified every two years, said Crist.

The recertification process keeps divers' skills honed and cuts down on the risks, said Crist.

Sport divers are certified for life whether they dive frequently or not. That can result in accidents when people who haven't dived in a while enter the water again, he said.

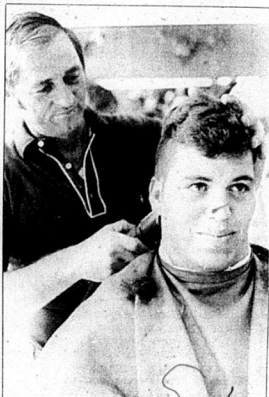

Sport diving and dive-rescue divers are trained for different operations and in a different approach when it comes to divers' difficulties or troubles, according to Crist.

Sport divers are taught never to dive without a buddy and to rely on their buddy if a problem occurs.

Killer highway claims life

PAHOKEE - A truck driver hauling a generator between Pahokee and Belle Glade became the latest victim of the killer highways in the Glades Monday morning when his rig turned over and caught fire.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol reports, the driver was traveling south on state road 15 in a tractor-trailer at about 11:15 a.m. when he lost control of his rig at a dead man's curve about three miles south of Pahokee.

His rig turned over and caught fire. The driver was killed as a result of the collision.

His identity wasn't revealed pending notification of his family.

Awards end Education Week

By BRENDA BUNTING

BELLE GLADE - Students and faculty at Lake Shore Middle School culminated National Education Week, Friday, November 18 with an awards presentation in the school gymnasium.

Principal Ed Foley greeted the student body and congratulated them on the "tremendous success" of the events and efforts put forth by the student body.

Stan Martin, publisher of the Herald-Observer, also congratulated the students for the advertisements designed by the students and complimented the talent shown by those students who drew up ads that appeared in last week's Herald-Observer.

Mr. Haughey and Julie Adams, both teachers at Lake Shore Middle, addressed the students. Haughey said he wanted to see the spirit that had been demonstrated that week to continue through the school year. He urged the students to "keep up the momentum."

Certificates of achievement were given to the students whose ad designs were chosen to run in last week's Herald-Observer by Martin and a special plaque was given to the overall best design.

Alina Ramos won the plaque for the best ad design. First, second and third place trophies were given by the school for winners in three categories.

Tyrone Patterson won first place in the poster contest. Jean Walkes, second and Monica Carizana received third place.

In the create-an-ad contest, Alina Ramos received first place, William Perez, second, and Sean Campbell, third. Anna Guevarra won in the essay contest.

Harvester killed

BELLE GLADE - A Pahokee man is dead after he apparently got off his tractor while working at a cane harvesting operation and was crushed by a unit unloading a wagon his tractor was hauling.

According to a report filed by the Glades substation of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department, Robert Middleton, 29, of 820 Palm Boulevard in Pahokee, apparently stepped off his tractor at a Glades Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative operation at about 5:30 p.m. Saturday, November 19, and walked between a wagon his tractor was pulling and a mechanical transfer station.

When the wagon was lifted to be dumped, Middleton was crushed by the machinery. There was no report as to why Middleton had left his tractor and stepped between the transfer station and the wagon.

He was pronounced dead at the scene and is survived by a wife and two children.

Trucks get facelift

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - It's a good humor man! No, it's an amusement park ride! No, it's a Belle Glade garbage truck!

Yes, that maroon truck with a white thunderbolt down the side wandering around the city gathering garbage is a city owned vehicle, even though it doesn't sport the traditional Belle Glade blue of most vehicles the city owns.

The new colors is an attempt by City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang, Jr. to add a spark to the city's sanitation vehicles and solve problems with the garbage collection system.

According to Strang, all the city's garbage trucks will eventually get a paint job, all of them with different colors, and an eighth truck the city expects to purchase will be ordered with an eighth color scheme.

The new colors will give the citizens a way to identify any truck that cause problems and will also give the city a chance to express its pride with its garbage truck, said Strang.

"If someone calls up and says 'Hey, a garbage truck just dumped a load of garbage out here,' and you ask which truck it was and they say blue, well all the trucks are blue. That doesn't tell us anything," said Strang. "This way we'll have something to go on."

Strang admits that he's stealing the idea from Ormand Beach where, a few years ago, his public works director and Strang decided to paint the Ormand Beach trucks in different colors to help residents

QUICK AS LIGHTNIN'? We aren't sure if that's gonna be the motto of the Belle Glade city garbage truck crews, but after City Manager W.E.

"Tom" Strang, Jr. completes his planned dressing up of the city's garbage trucks, it could be.

Early paper!

This is a special edition of the Herald-Observer published one day early because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

We will resume Thursday publications next week for the December 1 issue.

All regular deadlines will be observed next week.

Those deadlines are:
• Noon Monday for all classified and classified display advertising.
• Noon Tuesday for all social and other news releases.
• Five o'clock Tuesday evening for all display and legal advertising.

Prowlers, thefts subject for Crime Watch

BELLE GLADE — Residents in the northwest area of Belle Glade are warned to be on the lookout for prowlers and lawnmower thieves.

Belle Glade Police Detective Norman Hevey addressed the organization at its monthly meeting November 17.

Hevey said there was a rash of night prowling and lawnmower thefts during October in the areas around Dino's Plaza, Glades Central Community High School and Belle Glade Elementary.

Most of the thefts, which usually involved riding lawnmowers, dirt bikes and go-carts, occurred during daylight hours, he said.

Hevey suggested several things residents and property owners can do to assist police in thwarting or apprehending burglars and prowlers.

- Jot down the brand name and serial number of all property that presents a potential target for burglars.
- Have the serial number etched in the item and registered in police computers.

- Keep lawnmowers, dirt bikes, go carts and other equipment locked up.
- Get as complete a description as possible of any prowler or suspicious person and report it to the police.

Hevey said the police have picked up a few prowlers already.

He said any suspicious or unfamiliar person should be reported to the police because they may be prowlers. He added that often, individuals reported walking through the northwest section of town in evening or night hours are employees of sugar mills or packing houses looking for shortcuts through town. It doesn't hurt to report suspicious or unfamiliar individuals anyway, according to Hevey.

Trooper promoted and transferred PAHOKEE — Trooper A.Q. Morris, Jr. will be moving from Pahokee to Lantana December 1 as a corporal with the Florida Highway Patrol, Captain Bill Barrett announced Friday, November 18.

Morris has been with the Pahokee division of the highway patrol's Troop L for three and a half years. For the past three years he has served as a homicide investigator.

He's originally from Lakeland and started with the patrol in January 1977.

Morris's father, A.Q. Morris, Sr., retired as a sergeant with the highway patrol.

Barrett has scheduled his retirement in February after 38 years with the patrol. He's been troop commander for the past two years.

Divers—

Dark water divers must learn to help themselves out of difficulties.

"I may signal to may partner that I'm in trouble, but instead of sitting there and waiting for help from my buddy, I can start trying to get myself out of it. I guess you can say the divers must be very, well, cold blooded," said Crist.

The divers will also be taught other operations unique to rescue operations.

"The divers are not paramedics by any means, but they are taught to deal with things like drown victims," he said.

The diving team is a new unit at the Belle Glade Police Department but it has already established a reputation as one gets the job done.

"Our team has never been called upon that we never produced," said Crist. "We work with a team concept."

He added the team will also answer a call anywhere in Palm Beach County no matter what the weather or time of day. Other units won't enter the water at night or in certain weather.

The Belle Glade Police diving unit has answered calls as far south as the Broward County line where it located a suicide victim, and Hendry County where it located a drowning victim.

H2 program

rate. He also pointed out the industry provides non-local residents with lodging and three meals a day for only $5 per day.

"You can't beat that nowhere. I yield to the floor," said Calloway.

A common complaint I've heard is these people come over here and it gets near the end of the season, all of a sudden they start to riot," said board member James Gabbard. He asked if it was possible that the industry was inciting the problems in an effort to have employees deported before the season's end since any cutters who completed the season received bonuses.

Terrill said he had been in the industry for 13 years and can only recall one minor incident with USSC H2 laborers. That incident wasn't initiated by the company, he maintained.

"It's certainly not in the interest of an employer that is interested in re-employing 60 percent of its work force next year to create a problem," said Terrill.

The West Indian governments allow the industry to re-employ 60 percent of the laborers from year to year.

Board member Dan Calloway said that last year a group of workers had approached the board and expressed their concerns that when the season approached its end, they'd be let go so the company wouldn't have to pay them the traditional bonuses.

"Sure enough, come February of 1983, it happened," said Calloway.

That incident apparently occurred at Gulf-Western's Okelanta mill.

Terrill said he didn't know about anything involving other companies and Calloway acknowledged it wouldn't be fair to hold Terrill responsible for the actions of other firms.

Terrill also said that accusations that the industry doesn't want domestic workers because they are too expensive aren't justified.

"West Indians are not cheap labor," said Terrill. "It's an expensive proposition to charter airplanes (to fly them to and from their home lands). It's an expensive proposition to house and feed these people three meals a day for $5 a day. We lose money on that. I would like nothing more than to accumulate a domestic work force to do this job."

Alan Sherman, a board member, said the report issued by the United States House of Representative's Subcommittee on Labor Standards in July of this year addressed every point Terrill made.

Sherman read the section of the report that charged the industry with keeping a black list and arbitrarily and unfairly dismissing employees and cited the piece rate quota as unfair.

Terrill told Sherman to direct his attention to the minority report of the subcommittee which pointed out the majority report was based on "discredited and shoddy reports."

Terrill said the report was "preconceived" and the testimony of sugar industry officials was ignored.

He also said he was present in Washington when the report was approved and that it was given a "rubber stamp."

Evans: Thanks for the good news

Dr. David T. Evans

Presbyterian Church

Before the TV, there was only radio; before the radio there was the newspaper; before the newspaper there was the town crier. He spread the news, good or bad. In many cases, the news was spread even faster by enthusiastic people by word of mouth, if there was something to tell.

The greatest news was sent by God through Jesus. Jesus Christ proclaimed the Good News which has stirred the hearts, has changed the lives, and has inspired men for almost 20 centuries. Almighty God, thanks for the Good News!

Let us look at the carrier, the contents and to the consignee.

Look at the Carrier: Jesus Christ, the Son of God. No pictures exist of the likeness of this man, yet we can see first of all that He is a man with a mission. His fierce determination shone in his face and at the same time gives a feeling of tremendous strength.

Jesus, the carpenter of Nazareth, a builder of houses, furniture, and equipment, comes to announce the pivotal event of all ages. He proclaims the fact that the Kingdom of God has come. The Kingdom will give hope to mankind—whether rich or poor, bond servant or free, whether Jew or Greek.

The Kingdom will show the power of love—in fact, the power of God who is Love. The world has only known suspicion, fear, and might. Now, God says to the world, "I am sending the ultimate weapon of power—my love into the world. Men will be motivated not by terror or dread, but by His covenant love."

What about this man? What are his credentials? He is a man with access to God. He is come from God and is in constant communication with Him. Here is his strength—"I am close to God. The news Jesus proclaims is authoritative because it has come straight from God. How do we know this? His enemies admitted that "no man every spoke like this" or no one could teach as He did except He come from God."

Did he know what he was talking about? Jesus Christ was a man who lived in the everyday struggle of life. He was "a man of sorrows, acquainted with grief," afflicted, despised, and rejected. Above all, Christ, the carrier, had been to the cross and had come back to tell His story through the Spirit.

Look at the Contents. The Good News is that Jesus Christ, through His victory over the cross, has established a new relationship with us for God. The rebellion in our hearts has been quieted. We are no longer foreigners who are regarded with suspicion and dislike, but we are accepted by God. No longer are we only outsiders who never have been naturalized, or outsiders who remain on fringe, but we are real citizens of the society of God. We are now a full member of God's family.

Not only do we have the possibility of a new relationship with God, but also with our fellow men. With God dwelling in us, then the selfish nature takes over and enables us to love our neighbor. This new feeling comes from being at peace with God. Being at peace and no longer in rebellion allows us to be at peace with ourselves. Since our own house is in order, then we can accept others. True peace comes from God.

Finally, Look at the Consignee: God sends this message to His Church. The message comes to individuals as a part of the body of believers. The Church is made up of imperfect sinners who are becoming perfect (perfection is not reached in this life); the immature become more mature. The Church is not a building but a structure made up of those called by God through the Holy Spirit. This Church is not finished but is in the process of erection. The prophets and apostles form the ground work. New tiers of stones are rising on the foundation according to the grand design of God. It is the power of Christ and His proclamation that promotes and empowers its construction.

The glorious part about all this is that it includes you who have accepted God's call in Christ. As a part of the Church, you receive strength for day to day living; you are given wisdom and power to work for God and spread His message.

The message has been proclaimed. It is our joy and responsibility to carry on the message and work of Christ. The Church is a dwelling place of Christ's Spirit and where men who love Christ can share and live in that Spirit.

Thanks be to God who gives the victory news in Christ so that life is so bountiful and full of reasons for a thanksgiving.

Gators readying for playoffs

By MIKE UNDERWOOD
BELLE GLADE - The Melbourne Central Catholic Hustlers came up with the big plays Friday night, but couldn't hustle up enough points to knock off the Glades Day Gators who came home with a 22-21 overtime victory.

A Melbourne Central defensive end pounced on a fumble giving the Hustlers the ball on the Gators' 25 with about six minutes left in the first half.

John McOuagge passed to the end zone on the very next play to give the Hustlers a 6-0 lead over the Gators.

But the Gators came back later in the half when they recovered a loose ball on the 24 yard line with 54 seconds left in the half.

Five plays later, Philip Echols carried the ball over from the two yard line.

In the fourth quarter, the Gators took the lead for the first time when quarterback Brian Lohmann connected with Bayon Abraham on a 7 yard touchdown pass. Lohmann hit Abraham again with the two point conversion to give the Gators a 14-6 lead.

That score stood until the final five minutes of regulation time when Walt Steele intercepted a Lohmann pass and ran 60 yards for the touchdown.

The two-point conversion tied the score at 14. The Hustlers received to open the overtime period and scored on a three and 11 pass.

The extra point gave the Hustlers a 21-14 lead. The Gators responded to the pressure by winning the game on a ten yard run by Philip Echols on the first play. The two point conversion was also carried by Echols, who rushed for 121 yards on 22 carries for the night.

The Gators lost lineman Hal Lashley with a broken wrist in the game.

Gator Byron Walker, Jr. said he wasn't pleased with the Gator's performance and that he hopes the Gators play better offensively against Miami Northwest Christian in the first playoff game this Friday.

The Gators finished the regular season at 9-1 and host the first playoff game Friday at 8 p.m. According to Walker, Miami Northwest runs a wishbone offense and has a 260 pound fullback that must be contained.

"We must play good offense," added Walker. Season tickets aren't valid for the game. Tickets are $3.50 in advance and $3 at the gate. There are no reserved seats.

Garbage trucks

identify them.

Tentative plans call for the drivers to also wear jumpsuits color coordinated with their trucks.

"If they're in an orange truck, they'll wear an orange uniform," said Strang.

That plan is contingent upon cost. Strang said the painting and dress-up plan shouldn't cost the city any money. The city already runs the uniforms the garbage collectors wear and the new colors shouldn't cost any more or the city won't go through with that part of the plan.

The truck that was painted already was due for a paint job and Strang decided to have it painted in the special color scheme instead of the traditional blue at no added cost.

The idea hasn't been taken before the commission yet and Strang is still calling it an experiment. If it doesn't work, for some reason, Strang said the plan can be dropped.

So if you happen to see a purple or orange or even an orange and purple garbage truck picking up garbage in the city, don't go swearing off the booze or having your eyes examined. It's probably one of Strang's new color schemes for city garbage trucks.

Raider playoff hopes dashed by Card. Newman

By ALMA HENRY

BELLE GLADE - The Glades Central Raiders saw their hopes for a 1983 playoff berth disappear last Friday night before a capacity crowd at North Shore High School when Cardinal Newman downed the Raiders 29-19.

The game was up for grabs through the closing seconds of the contest.

With six seconds on the clock, Raider quarterback Kenneth Hammond lofted a long pass to his favorite tight-end, John Ford, in the right corner of the end zone. Ford's reception was apparently the winning touchdown, but an official ruled that Ford was out of bounds when he caught the football.

For the second consecutive year, the Raiders were denied a playoff berth because of controversial plays by the officials.

As the game ended, Cardinal Newman players and coaches swarmed the field in celebration while the Glades Central coaching staff argued vainly that the touchdown was good.

"It looked like he was in to me," said Coach Dan Brown afterwards. "We thought we had a touchdown. He (the official) didn't have the guts to call it."

"I was in," agreed Ford.

The Raiders were the first to hit paydirt in the game. They jumped to an early lead on their first possession with a fake field goal attempt that holder Willie Sneed ran in for eight yards with 1:58 left in the first quarter.

Tim Sills missed the extra point attempt. Cardinal Newman had taken the opening kickoff and drove to the Glades Central 15 yard line, but Tom Sokolowsky's 22 yard field goal attempt was blocked by Raider defensive end James Rainey.

When the Crusaders got the ball the next time, they were more successful. Sokolowsky kicked the ball between the uprights for the 20-yard field goal that closed the gap to 6-3.

The Raiders widened the gap though. Hammond found Sneed open for a 69 yard touchdown pass that put the Raiders up 13-3.

Just minutes before the end of the half, Crusader Colin O'Connor ran two yards for a touchdown and Sokolowsky kicked the extra-point to pull Cardinal Newman to within three points again.

The Raiders scored their last points of the game and the season in the third period when Ford caught a 19 yard pass from Hammond to put the Raiders up 19-10.

The Crusaders scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to win the game. Freddy Delos blocked a Glades Central punt at the five yard line and on the first play, Crusader quarterback Scott Jacobs went in for the touchdown.

Sokolowsky's extra point closed the Crusaders to within two points.

Newman scored its game-winner when back-up quarterback Mike Runak fired a 57-yard scoring pass to Kevin McGrath who slipped behind a Raider defender near the 20 yard line and raced untouched for the touchdown.

The loss was the second of the season for the Raiders who finished at 8-2.

PHS streak extends to 4

PAHOKEE - The Blue Devils extended their winning streak to four games to capture a 5-5 1983 gridiron season last Friday, November 18. "It was a very tough game," said Pahokee Coach Amos Turner. "We lost our starting quarterback during the homecoming game and our second string quarterback was injured two weeks ago. So we had to turn our first-string fullback into a quarterback."

Richard Lyndale, the fullback-turned-quarterback, apparently wasn't too nervous with his new role. He threw two touchdown passes to lead his team to a 14-6 victory over Santaluces.

The Blue Devils got on the board first in the opening period when Lyndale hit Ernest Edmond with a 26 yard touchdown pass. The point after attempt failed and the Devils had a 6-0 lead.

Santalucos came right back with a touchdown scoring drive that tied the score. Both teams were scoreless for the rest of the first half and the Blue Devil defense shut down the Santaluces offense through the last three quarters of the game.

"The defense has been awesome all year," said Turner.

In the third quarter, the Blue Devil offense got busy and put the game away with eight points. Lyndale hit Anthony Smith with a 42 yard touchdown pass to put the Blue Devils up 12-0.

Then the Blue Devils went into their "blue set" formation that they've been using to baffle opponents throughout the season. Santaluces was the last of the Devil's 1983 victims and Pahokee went up 14-6.

"Nobody's caught on to that all year," laughed Turner.

Both teams went scoreless in the last quarter and the Blue Devils came home with a 14-6 victory and a 5-5 season after starting 1-5.

"I just feel they've been maturing," said Turner of the team. "And I appreciate the help we got from all the coaches."

About 18 team members are graduating this year and another 18 are returning according to Turner.

He said plans for the off season include conditioning team members and getting them involved in other sports, such as basketball, baseball and track.

Another of Turner's aims is to keep the team members in class so that when next season rolls around, they're eligible to play football.

"The four game streak should motivate you for next year, too," said Turner.

Club activities set

The home of Gethie and Lewis Friend was the scene of Xi Alpha Mu's social, Thursday, November 17.

Ada and Coleman Conley were the cooks for the occasion, serving the group an old-fashioned Southern Thanksgiving dinner.

Other members and spouses attending were

Methodist women meet

The United Methodist Women of the Community United Methodist Church met in the church chapel Sunday at 2:30 p.m., November 20.

The meeting was opened with prayer, led by the group president, Marie Schoenfeld.

The program for the afternoon, "On God's Growing Edge," was presented by Gloria Lively.

After all the committee reports were given, plans for the election of officers at the December meeting were discussed with installation to be held in January 1984.

There were 21 people in attendance, including Rev. Harry Russell and Betty Gibbs, wife of Dr. McCoy Gibbs, district superintendent.

Charge Conference was held in the church earlier Sunday afternoon at 4 at the Community United Methodist Church. Dr. McCoy Gibbs, district superintendent of the Ft. Myers District, presided over the meeting.

On the agenda were the reports for 1983, the plans and programs for 1984 and the churchwide election of officers.

The meeting was attended by officers of the various committees of the church, the administrative board and members of the congregation. The host pastor was Rev. S. Harry Russell.

Week observed

In observance of National Career Guidance Week, November 6 through 12, Pahokee Elementary invited employees in public service to present a program to the students.

Chief Cecil Phillips of the Pahokee Fire Department, along with two firemen, gave a brief talk and demonstration. Also present were Officer Gary Burroughs of the Pahokee Police Department and Jason Wulner, director of the Everglades Memorial Hospital Service, who gave talks on their duties and career.

Dale Allen, guidance counselor at Pahokee Elementary, coordinated the program. Allen said the program was informative, especially for those students who might be interested in careers in public service.

GGH will host dinner

Glades General Hospital will host its Third Annual Special

Dinner for Diabetics Sunday, December 4, at 3 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria.

The holiday season is a difficult time for individuals with diabetes, who must control their calorie intake. Glades General's Dinner for Diabetics is designed to show individuals with that disease how to prepare delicious holiday dishes and still maintain a proper diet. This year's program will include a special dinner prepared by Dietary Manager Mildred Smith and her staff, information on health and nutrition by a member of Glades General's medical staff, a diabetic recipe exchange, and tour of the hospital.

Anyone interested in attending should call 996-6571 ext. 481 to make reservations.

Participants are asked to bring a copy of their favorite recipe, neatly written, and keeping within their prescribed diet. Copies will be made and distributed to others present.
